

COACHE Survey Results

Research and Infrastructure Satisfaction

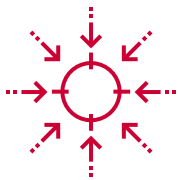

Areas of Satisfaction:

60% of faculty are satisfied with their office space.

More than 55% of faculty have engaged in collaborative interdisciplinary research.

57% are satisfied with their time spent on research.

79% of faculty are satisfied with the latitude of influence they have over the focus of their research.

Areas for Improvement:

38% of faculty are dissatisfied with overall support for research.

27% of faculty identify "quality of facilities" as the worst aspect of working at Rutgers.

1 in 3 faculty members is dissatisfied with:

- support for obtaining grants
- support for maintaining grants
- support for securing graduate student assistance

When asked to describe one thing Rutgers can do to improve the workplace, 21% of responses related to "facilities and resources for work".